

You sometimes write articles for your company's international online magazine. When looking for ideas for a new topic, you found these posts online.

work_and_party

posted 8:25am

We had to finish this really big project so our boss sent the whole team on a “workation” – to a holiday resort for a week. It was great to work in such a nice place where you can have fun after work!

serious worker

posted 8:30am

Seriously!? I would hate to mix work and free time. I work in the office and certainly not on the beach.

You have decided to write an article about workations.

In your article you should:

- give reasons why companies send employees on workations
- examine possible negative aspects
- evaluate motivating alternatives to workations

Give your article a title. Write around 250 words.

Notes (these will not be marked)
